

Brothel cop escapes jail

mirror.co.uk

2008

An ex-cop exposed by The People for running orgies has been spared jail.

We saw more than 50 exhibitionists indulge in sex acts at a party arranged by Brian Sheridan, 57.

Known as The General, he also planned a three-day fetish festival for 350 couples - including romps in a giant hot-tub - but it was halted by a police raid.

Sheridan, of Scayne's Hill, West Sussex, admitted managing a brothel. He was given a suspended jail term and community service. His wife Caroline, an erotic writer, was found not guilty by a judge at Hove Crown Court.