

2011 Former police officer Anthony Rollins guilty of sexual assaults

Feb 23, 2011 “Former Anchorage police officer Anthony Rollins left court in handcuffs following his conviction Tuesday for four rapes while in uniform and on duty in 2008 and 2009...”

A state Superior Court jury also found Rollins, a 13-year decorated police officer, guilty on multiple counts of second-degree sexual assault, including assault on a fifth victim, criminal use of a computer and official misconduct.

Six women testified Rollins forced them into sex acts or touched them sexually against their will. And while convicting Rollins on 18 counts, the jurors acquitted him of second-degree sexual assault and official misconduct involving an alleged victim from 2006.

Rollins, 43, had pleaded not guilty to all 20 counts...

Four of the women Rollins is convicted of raping were in their late teens or early 20s... In her closing argument, prosecutor Marshall said Rollins used his position as a police officer for sex, calling him arrogant and overconfident... Rollins used "soft, subtle power abuse, situational force," Marshall said.

March 23, 2012 “In February an Anchorage jury agreed, and found Rollins guilty of sexually assaulting five of six women and abusing police power by using APSIN – the Alaska Public Safety Information Network – to stalk his victims...”

More than a year later, his victims are locked in a battle with the municipality as they try to get answers as to why Rollins wasn't pulled off the streets sooner. And now an attorney for some of Rollins' victims said the police officer had raped many, many other women. And she said APD knew about the attacks and did nothing...

"I should have said, 'no.' I should have told him to stop. Like, I don't know. I really didn't feel like I could do anything," one victim said on February 1, 2011. "Why did you feel like you couldn't do anything?" the district attorney asked. "Because he has so much power and he could, like, cause problems for me, I guess," the victim said, crying. On February 2, 2011, another victim testified, crying, "He unzipped his pants and he took his thing out, he grabbed my hand, he took my hand and put it on himself."

Schleuss (the DA) said they aren't the only women to share the nightmare. "There were many more, many more," she said. "I can't tell you how many there are – 20, 30," Schleuss said. "I can't finish reading them all so I can't tell you... because how many transcripts of women who were raped can I read at one time?"

2012: ANCHORAGE - “With convicted serial rapist and former Anchorage Police officer Anthony Rollins waiting to find out how much time he will spend in prison, new details on his behavior and how it was dealt with raise the question of whether sex on the job is part of the department's culture.

This all comes from summaries that an attorney for five of Rollins’ victims acquired as part of a lawsuit against the city, which say he was kept on the job even though APD knew he was having sex on duty.

If you read the partial reports or even listened to the Rollins trial, you have to decide for yourself if what Rollins was doing was being ignored. With a bold claim that other officers were having sex on the job just like him, for the former officer – convicted of serial rape in February of 2011 – it turns out sexual misconduct was happening long before he was caught.”

April 13, 2012: An Anchorage Superior Court judge on Friday sentenced disgraced police officer and convicted serial rapist Anthony Rollins to serve 87 years in prison.

Judge Philip Volland handed down the sentence around 6:20 p.m. at the end of an all-day hearing. Known for being outwardly thoughtful in his decisions, Volland said the trial left an impression on him. He called Rollins "a rapist in blue with a badge."

In court documents, the municipality states it “did not have a legal duty to protect” the women from Rollins, a rapist law enforcement officer. Yet prostitution abolitionists want to ‘protect’ women who have NOT asked for help from their non violent, non abusive clients, employers and family members...
